A YOUNG GIRL'S TRIALS.

HER PARENTS HAD ALMOST GIVEN UP HOPE OF HER RECOVERY.

PALE AND EMACIATED, SUBJECT TO SEVERE HEADACHES, SHE WAS THOUGHT TO BE BEYOND RECOVERY. THE PICTURE OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

There are very few people, especially among the agriculturists of Kent County, N. Y., who do not know Mr. H. H. Worman, the popular agent for agricultural machinery, of Madoc River. A review representative was in conversation with Mr. Worman recently, when the subject of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was incidentally touched upon. Mr. Worman said he was a staunch believer in their curative properties, and to justify his opinion he related the cure of his sister, Miss Jennie Worman, aged 15, who he said had been "almost wrestled from the grave by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." Miss Worman had been suffering for nearly a year with troubles incident to girlhood. She suffered from nerve and almost constant headaches directed to the head, and was pale and bloodless and evidently became so weak and emaciated that her parents thought that she was in consumption, and had all but given up hope of her recovery. Her father, Mr. Richard Worman, who is a well-to-do farmer, spared no expense to procure relief for the poor sufferer. The best available medical advice was employed, but no relief came, and although the parents were almost in despair, they still strove to find the means of restoring their loved one to health.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, like some others, looked upon these stories as "mere patent medicine advertisements." However, as everything else failed, he determined to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and to his surprise, with a result no less marvelous than that of many other cases related through the press. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have completely cured the young lady, so that in a few months, from a helpless and suppositively girl, she has become a picture of health and activity. The Worman family is well known in this part of the country that no one would think of disputing any statement made by any of its members. Mr. H. H. Worman, on being asked to write a testimonial for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, personally acquainted with nearly everybody in the district, made him feel assured that any enquiries made of him concerning the statements made above will be readily answered.

The gratifying results following the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, in the case of Miss Worman, prove that they are unequalled as a blood builder and nerve tonic.

In the case of young girls who are pale or sallow, listless, troubled with a fluttering or palpitation of the heart, weak and easily tired, no time should be lost in taking a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which will speedily restore the blood and bring a ray of health to the cheeks. They are a specific for troubles peculiar to female, such as nervous prostration, and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature.

Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and Schenectady, N. Y., are sold in boxes (never in loose form) in the dozen or hundred at 25 cents a box or at a price of $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company at either address. —Richards N. E. Review.

A REVOLUTION IN WATER POWER.

Leonard Henckle, of Rochester, N. Y., has patented a system of turbine wheels which, he claims, will revolutionize the use of water power. He has a design for a building half a mile long to extend over Niagara Falls. Up to the present, time turbine water wheels have been turned in the same direction. The idea of the inventor is to have two wheels on a line, one turning in opposite directions, thus doubling the force exerted heretofore by a given amount of water. Mr. Henckle has been in consultation with New York engineers who are considering the feasibility of backing the scheme. "With the appearance of my invention a new era in hydroelectric power is opened," he said. "I am confident that enough electrical power can be generated at Niagara Falls to send a good working current entirely around the world. New York and London could be lighted by electricity from Niagara just as easily as Rochester is lighted from the local plants."

Cold in the head—Nasal Balm gives instant relief; speedily cures. Never fails.

Catarrh in the Head.

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing of sight, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pain in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. FUSSELL, Newmarket, Ontario.

THE SUGAR KING.

HOW CLAUS SPRECKELS MADE
HIS MILLIONS.He Came Over in the Steamer and Wore Wooden Shoes—His Sons Are Very Worldly and Get the Best Out of Life—Lured Into Implicated in the Hawaiian Conspiracy.

Rudolph Spreckels, son of Claus Spreckels, was the sugar king of the world. He was the youngest son of the millionaire, and a successful twenty-five-year-old. There are three boys in the Spreckels family. One of them, John D. Spreckels, is a very good boy, while the other two, Rudolph and Adolf, are rather wild boys. John D. is his father's business associate, confident and partner.

When old Claus Spreckels was apprised of the fact that his son Rudolph was implicated in the Hawaiian conspiracy, he was shocked. He was a very old man, and he was the most matter-of-fact way. "Some time ago I gave Rudolph and Adolf $500,000 apiece. I thought they ought to get $500,000 apiece. They removed their trunks from the family residence, and now conduct their own affairs without consulting me. If Rudolph was connected with the revolt, as is stated, I attribute it to the fact that he is young and wild and without judgment."

The other boy, Adolf, first gained notoriety over forty years ago. It was on April 13, 1854, that Michael Henry de Young, editor and proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle, experienced one of the results of foreign journalism, by being stricken on the conduct of a Hawaiian affair, and the evils of the reciprocity treaty. Spreckels was brought to trial on May 23, 1854, and acquitted July 1, 1854.

Rudolph is very nautical in his tastes, and is Commodore of the Pacific Yacht Club. He is a handsome man, with dark hair and a heavy mustache, and a frank, manly face. The good boy, John D. Spreckels, is of Irish build, and has been known to light up a very intelligent face. He is a shrewd and able business man.

The father of these boys was a pretty lively lad himself, and for an old man is known to be as sprightly as they make them. He is a typical German of meagre education. He speaks broken English. I remember him presiding over the dinner table in the cabin of the Pacific steamer, sending his champagne around the whole length of the table and then, after a good deal, leading the way on deck, where he could sit on an inverted champagne bottle on the deck of the rolling steamer.

As a newly-arrived emigrant in New York, he at once proceeded to hunt employment. He was unable to speak the English language, and being a youth of no education, his meagre knowledge was not at all particular as to the nature of the work he got, so long as it was work, and he possessed the money he was after. But he possessed a commercial instinct and an inclination to barter, and it was not long before he had a corner grocery, wore a white apron, and, with limping refinery. The refinery was doing a large and profitable business. Claus thought the matter over, and concluded that the refinery should be his. He did not want to let it. The shareholders objected to his business methods, whereupon he bought them out. In the course of time Spreckels not the refinery, roof and all. For a German in wooden shoes, he was getting along amazingly. He took a wife, a Swedish girl, who could talk to him in his own language.

The sugar refinery owned by Spreckels was the sugar king of the world. The refinery was all right so far as it went, but it was only one, and there were three others in the San Francisco. Claus got them all, either by purchase or subsidies. To the owners of the largest he paid the enormous sum of $500,000, they agreed to quit business for a period of five years. When the contract expired they attempted to renew it, but he refused to let them have anything more to do with them. "We shall resume if you do not make another contract with us," they said.

"Very well," replied Claus, "go ahead. I don't care what you do." They went out to their idle refinery and found that it was had completely ruined. The machinery was worthless.

About twenty years ago Spreckels made his first voyage to the South Sea Islands. He had beaten down all opposition in the United States. Spreckels, at this time, was rolling in wealth. He had found a way to get sugar better than a gold mine, a brewery or a corner grocery. It costs a large sum of money to establish a sugar plantation in the Sandwich Islands, because every foot of land must be irrigated. Spreckels looked over the field and was somewhat discouraged. He would require a mint to buy out the planters, many of whom are Germans, like himself, and equally as shrewd and ambitious. He found 10,000 acres of land, and two low, conical mountains, and considered useless.

He leased this barren waste from Kalka for a song and went to work. There was plenty of water in the mountains, twenty miles away. He dug a canal from the mountains, and the deep, built aqueducts, blasted thirty tunnels through solid rock, and got water to his desert at a cost of something like $500,000. He founded a town, called it Spreckelsville. He macadamized the streets thereof, planted shade trees, built a church and a circulating library, and established a club for the entertainment of his army of employees. He extended his main canal until it penetrated every part of his harvest, and caused five Chinese reservoirs to be constructed high up in the mountains so that he could have a perpetual supply of water. Meanwhile he had planted his cane in great growing, and a mill that soon produced 100 tons of sugar a day was being built upon his personal supervision. Spreckels could not seem to get any larger fortune, and won. All about him were planters who were making pots of money. The Pioneer Mills and plantation were valued at $1,000,000, and were returning to their two owners a dividend of 20 per cent. on that vast sum. Labor was practically free. Chinese and South Sea Islanders worked in the fields and in the mills and got but a pittance. They bound themselves out like slaves, and if they failed to regard their contract they were thrown into jail.

After this Spreckels played the game of "free-out" with the other sugar kings. He was a very shrewd man, and of old Kalka, he gained him a million dollars in 6 per cent. payable in gold, and became a knight commander of the King's order.

When this time came, Spreckels was at the palace, the Prime Minister took him out and made a bow. The Queen smiled at him, for the Queen knew that when she wanted a thing, she got it. He was a shrewd man, and he was a very shrewd man.

They were taking some of the trade. The old man had been out of the country. He built an immense refinery at Philadelphia, and Claus went there for business on this side of the Mississippi valley. Meanwhile he planted hundreds of acres of beets in Southern California, and Claus went there for business on this side of the Mississippi valley.

He started straightway for the Pacific coast. Other men were taking claims, getting shot and cut all to pieces, and accumulating more or less of gold dust, meanwhile, but Claus was different, and a speculative turn of mind at that particular period of his life. American dealt with the beets, and Claus went there for business on this side of the Mississippi valley.

Then Spreckels and his brothers bought an interest in a brewery. Their bank account grew larger and larger, and Claus was offered something like $750,000 for his interest in the brewery, he accepted the money and invested it in a sugar refinery. The refinery was doing a large and profitable business. Claus thought the matter over, and concluded that the refinery should be his. He did not want to let it. The shareholders objected to his business methods, whereupon he bought them out. In the course of time Spreckels not the refinery, roof and all. Police Court.

A young man by the name of Luke Loe, who was arrested last Saturday night for interrupting a meeting of the Salvation Army at their barracks, appeared before Commissioner McCollough on Monday to answer for his offence. Mr. Bedford acted for the prosecution and W. S. Herdington, Napanee, for the defence. After the evidence was all in Mr. Herdington suggested that he and Mr. Bedford might be allowed to talk the matter over between themselves and with the consent of Captain McKinnon, an agreement was come to that the prisoner should be held in custody. The Commissioner, while according to this, made the prisoner a severe address in the course of which he desired him and all others to take notice that on another offence of this nature being proved before him he would agree to no settlement but inflict the utmost sentence allowed by law. Captain McKinnon stated that his motive in prosecuting this offender was not to have Loe violently punished but to protect the peace of their meeting. Her wishes, coupled with the fact that Loe had already spent two nights in the cells doubtless explains the lightness of his punishment. Loe had previously been guilty of the same offence.

Presentations.

The members of Loyal Hastings Lodge, No. 158, Canadian Order of Oddfellows, gathered with their wives and sweethearts, mustered in force at the hospitable residence of Mrs. N. T. Lowe, Maple avenue, on the evening of Friday 27th, for the purpose of spending a few social hours with Mrs. G. W. Tucker and family before their departure from Deseronto. A very happy time was spent in games and other amusements. A service of cake, coffee, etc., was dispensed and enjoyed. At this stage of the proceedings Bro. Lloyd, N. G., said that the time had arrived for the performance of a pleasant task. He called upon Bro. A. D. McIntyre, who, after some most profuse remarks, presented Bro. Tucker with a Past Noble Grand's Jewel as a token of the appreciation in which he was held by the brethren. Bro. Tucker replied with his usual eloquence, thanking the brethren for their handsome gift and assuring them that he would never forget Loyal Hastings Lodge. He also humorously remarked that he had called his last day Faith, Love and Truth. The evening was one of most happy character and shows the fraternal spirit which actuates the members of this lodge in a very marked degree.

Casualties.

While getting off the B. of Q. train at the fair mill on 1/4 day evening, J. E. Watson made a misstep and his leg was fractured near the knee. Dr. Vandervoort reduced the fracture. On Wednesday afternoon a number of the fell and Jacob Borden being unable to get out of the way his left leg was broken near the ankle. Dr. Newton was summoned and reduced the fracture.

He will also carry a large stock of tobacco and cigars. The stand is very central, being immediately opposite the O'Connor House. Mr. Woodcock is one of our most popular young men, and there is every reason to believe he will secure a fair share of public patronage.

METHODIST CHURCH.

CEMETERY CONSECRATED.

On Wednesday, his Grace Archbishop Cleary drove up from Napanee for the purpose of consecrating a new cemetery recently purchased and laid out by the congregation of the church of St. Vincent de Paul. In the same carriage with his Grace were Messrs. J. H. Coleman, of Deseronto, and Father Hartigan, of Centreville. The distinguished party arrived at the cemetery at 1 p. m. and were received by Father Hogan, pastor of the parish, and Father Quinn, of Marysville. Although not a very convenient hour for the ceremony, a large number of people assembled to welcome the Archbishop and take part in the religious ceremony. The Archbishop, after having said a few words at the residence of Mr. James Reardon, a procession was formed, and all marched to the new cemetery. Here, assisted by the Rev. J. H. Coleman, the Archbishop consecrated the cemetery in accordance with the impressive ritual prescribed by the Roman Ritual. He then, in a few words, Grace addressed the congregation on the nature of the ceremony and the duty of a proper care and veneration for the sacred soil. His Grace then returned to the church, concluding by pronouncing the Episcopal Benediction. It was quite evident that the Archbishop's visit was a most successful one, and that the affection shown by the Deseronto congregation, and he could not but admire the hearty and liberal support given by the congregation of St. Vincent de Paul who with such spirit acquired this property, and who have so far so well maintained and paid the purchase money in full. After the ceremony Archbishop Cleary returned to Napanee, where he was expected a few days as the guest of Father Hogan.

The doctors, after working over me to the best of their ability, pronounced my case hopeless, and said they could do no more for me. A friend, however, told me to try a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which I began to take, and very soon I was greatly relieved. By the time I had used the whole bottle, I was completely cured. PESTH'S TELEPHONE NEWSPAPER.

It Has 6,000 Subscribers and Has Been in Operation Two Years.

The telephone newspaper organized at Pesth, Hungary, has now been working successfully for two years. It is the only newspaper of the kind in the world. It is called the telephone Hironado, or Hironado, costs 2 cents, like a printed paper, and is valuable to persons who are unable to read, or too lazy to use their eyes or who cannot read. It has 6,000 subscribers, who receive the news as they would ordinary telephone messages. A special wire 108 miles long runs along the windows of the houses of subscribers, which are connected with the main line by separate wires and special apparatus which prevents the blocking of the system by an accident at any one of the stations. Within the wire, long, flexible wires make it possible to carry the receiver to the bed or any other part of the room.

The news is not delivered as it happens to come in, but is carefully edited and arranged according to a certain schedule, so that a subscriber at any time knows what part of the paper he is going to hear. It begins with the night telegrams from all parts of Europe. Then come the calendar of events for the day, with the city news and the late of strangers at the hotels. After that follow articles of interest, art and literature. The staff is organized like that of any other newspaper, and is on duty from 10:30 in the morning till midnight.

After the copy has passed through the editor's hands, for the paper is subject to the same restrictions as ordinary newspapers and is liable for its communications, it is given to the "speakers." These are men with strong voices and clear enunciation, who work in shifts of two at a time and talk the news through the telephone. There are twenty-eight editions published a day. Additional editions are published on special occasions, and on Sundays and holidays.

To fill up the time when no news is coming in the subscribers are entertained with a variety of musical and dramatic pieces. These were first given to them especially on the Hironado, but now the wire is in so much demand with the city and the music halls, and on Sundays and holidays, that the Hironado is used for the same purpose.

It is not easy to preserve one's gravity when reading.

OLD TIME ADVERTISING.

SOME EXAMPLES OF THE OLD WAY OF DOING IT.

BILL POSTERS IN ANCIENT GREECE AND ROME.
The first newspaper work in Rome was done in 1883. Great Britain had a duty on all advertisements—George Robins, Professor of Advertising—George Robins, Professor of Advertising—George Robins, Professor of Advertising.

It is a great mistake to suppose that advertisements are of comparatively modern origin, for it is asserted that there were bill posters in ancient Greece and Rome. The ruins of Pompeii and Herculaneum afford examples of the ancient mode of advertising, the walls in the most frequented parts being covered with notices painted in black and red. Announcements of plays and gladiatorial contests are common, and of course, and of the sale of salt water and fresh vegetables. Often, too, it was declared that certain articles came from Rome, just as the wily milliner of to-day announces her hats and bonnets as "imported direct from Paris."

The populace was reminded of the legion and existence of a school by the sign of a boy undergoing a thrashing, of the dairy by the sign of a goat, and of the baker by the sign of a windmill.

These symbols were made of stone or terra cotta, relief, set in pilasters at the side of the building, and more extensive announcements were made in tablets affixed to pillars. The physician displayed a cupping glass outside his door and the surveyor a measure.

Henry Sampson, in his history of advertising, says that in England the first bill poster was a sign for a new wine.

In 1642, when the outbreak of the civil war caused a great demand for news and suggested to a bookseller the idea of printing a WEEKLY NEWSPAPER.

After one or two attempts he acquired a sufficient confidence to issue a long advertisement, but his enterprise was not appreciated, for it is said that "innovation of an advertisement was met in the literary world with a shower of invectives."

What is generally supposed to be, but is not, the first authenticated advertisement in England appeared in the Mercury Politician for January, 1622, and reads thus:

"Hercules Gratulatoria, an Heroic Poem, being a congratulatory panegyric for my Lord General's last rout, summing up his success in an exquisite manner. To be sold by John Holden in the New Exchange, London. Printed by Thomas Newman, 1622."

In 1682 one John Houghton, F. R. S., who combined the duties of apothecary with that of a dealer in tea, coffee, and chocolate in Bartholomew lane, started a paper, and, by an untiring amount of perseverance, thought, and study, he may be said to have trained his contemporaries in the art of advertising and also to have set an example which might be followed by editors of the present day. The number of quack advertisements had found their way into the paper, he put a mark with the following bold hint:

"Pray mind the preface to this half sheet of lawyers I take all causes, I may fairly say, who like not this paper, and it is amusing to trace the date of the journals of the last two centuries through the phraseology of the times used in their advertisements. The advertisement of the curious new drink called "tea" or "tee" points to the seventeenth century. And in the Daily Post for 1772 it reads:

TWO CURIOUS ADVERTISEMENTS which go to prove that the "new woman" existed over a hundred years ago, and in an undeveloped form. The advertisements are for the following:

"Challenge.—I, Elizabeth Wilkinson of Clerkenwell, having had some words with Hoxford, and requiring satisfaction, do hereby challenge him upon the stage and box me for three guineas, each to hold a hand a crown in each hand, and the first woman who drops the money to lose the battle."

The answer is:

"I, Hannah Heyfield of Newgate Market, having of late seen the resolution of Elizabeth Wilkinson, will not fail, God willing, to give her more blows than words, desiring time and from her no favor. She may expect a thunder day, for I will not be trifled with."

From which it may be judged that we have lost one employment for women induced in by the advertiser.

The idea of a paper for advertisements is not 200 years old, for in 1692 the City Mercury of London was published gratis for the promotion of the cause of the poor, promising only a distribution of a thousand copies a week among the coffee houses, taverns, and book-shops.

In England the same name that appeared in advertisements at the end of the last century may be found. For instance, in the London Mercury of 1798 we find the virtues of a certain powder set forth in exactly the same words as it is now.

The purely literary, or rather flowery, advertisement has quite died out. George, an Englishman, was the last professor of the art and he died some thirty years ago. His advertisements of estates or sale were:

WORKS OF ART, and were as eagerly read as the pages of Punch. Once after describing an estate as a "serenest paradise," he admitted that it had one drawback, and that was, "it was a little too large."

Previous to 1853 Great Britain had a duty on all advertisements, and that contributed no small sum to the revenue. This system of taxation was very unequal, and oppressive, the duty being the same on an advertisement of the sale of an estate and a servant, or being most naturally looked for his sample.

"A keyless lady's gold watch," or "a red lady's umbrella."

It is not easy to preserve one's gravity when reading.

To be so much, a fine gray horse for sale, would carry a lady with a dooked tail.

Or of a buggy "the property of a gentleman with a moribund head as good as new."

In the Albany Times some thirty years ago was the following advertisement which shows the value placed on wives at that time:

"Three dollars reward will be paid to whoever will cause the return to me of my wife, Mary. She is of middle size, light complexion, and has her hair light hair, is about 15 years of age and of a loving disposition, and had on three raton boucractions."

"WILLIAM SNOW, Lodge and Maiden-st."

In an English newspaper of 1816 there was an advertisement, evidently inserted by a householder who had improved his dwelling for the benefit of

A CHARMING PROPERTIES.

It runs thus:

"I Wanted, immediately, to enable me to leave the house which I have for the last five years inhabited in the same plight in which I found it, 500 live rats, for which I will gladly pay the sum of 50 sterling, and, as I cannot leave the farm attached there in the same order in which I found it without at least 5,000,000 ducks [weeds], I do hereby promise a further sum of 4500 said rats, and 5000 ducks, N. B.—The rats must be full grown and no cripples."

The Spaniards are generally considered as a race of adventurers, and in a Spanish paper which for enterprise is quite worthy of an American:

"This morning the Almighty summoned away the venerable Sabalillo Himga, from his shop to another and a better world. The undersigned, his widow, will weep upon his tomb, as will his two daughters, Hilda and Emma, the former of whom is married and the latter still unmarried."

The funeral will take place to-morrow. His immediate widow, Veronique Himga."

"P. S.—This bereavement will not interrupt our employment which will be carried on from the same place of business will be removed from No. 3, Lessi de Lenteur to No. 4 Rue de Mission, as our Landlord has written us."

Equally grotesque is the advertisement in a London paper, which reads:

"To be disposed, for the benefit of a poor old man, the late Mr. John Wain, of a charitable neighborhood, the coming in of well drilled and a staff in good repair. A handsome premium is expected."

Among various advertisements of ancient date is one by Martin Van Buitel of London. He announced in 1778 that he had recovered the ancient process of embalming, and, as a proof of this, when his wife died several years later he embalmed the body and with true public spirit exhibited her to

AN ADMIRING WORLD.

Such was the curiosity excited by this peculiar exhibition that Mr. Van Buitel found it necessary to limit the admission of the public to the exhibition of the late Mr. James Gazette as follows:

"Van Buitel, not wishing to be unpleasantly circumstanced, and willing to convince some good minds that they have been misinformed, acquaints the curious that no stranger can see his embalmed wife unless personally introduced to him by a friend, between the hours of 9 and 1 o'clock on every day except Sunday."

Equally grotesque is an advertisement which appeared in a German newspaper:

"At No. 21 in the roof chamber, orders for new dresses are taken kindly; also the undersigned and dressmaker cases is performed. The advertiser can produce the best testimonials. Charges moderate."

The Germans show little reserve in their advertisements, particularly in the birth of congratulations which it is quite the thing to have printed, as follows:

"To the dear, stout, pretty, blonde Anna von K.—I, your devoted friend, 78 right hearty congratulations from a silent admirer."

A German woman who seems to have left too unknown to her creditors caused the following advertisement to be inserted:

"Goodbye! I want of time obliges me to stop at the house of a living friend and acquaintance adieu. I shall be sure, at the proper time, to recollect the small debts I have left behind me."

(Signed) J. PETERVEL, Widow.

"Dated—Over the Frontier."

An act that seems to have flourished more in the past than in the present is that of translating titles. In 1784 Dr. Le Mayeur writes to the citizens of Philadelphia through the public press that he had written a book, and that he had teeth in the last six months," and offers two guineas to any one selling him a front tooth.

STORY OF JOHANNESBURG

THE CITY BUILT BY GOLD IN THE INTERIOR OF SOUTH AFRICA.

How the Power of the Yellow Metal Has Turned an Idle Wilderness Into a Great Thriving, Handsome Urban Community—Less Than Ten Years Old.

The story of the city of Johannesburg, South Africa, is a story of the power of gold in turning an idle wilderness into a great and thriving urban community. Less than ten years ago, in 1886, the first discovery of gold was made in the region where Johannesburg is now situated. Just the kind of region it was then can be understood from the statement that it lay 400 miles back from the east coast of Africa. It was uninhabited by civilized men and the track hither was as dangerous as any ever travelled by prospectors in any country. But a prospector made the journey and found gold-bearing rock, and when the find had been explored it was shown to be one of the largest and richest the world has seen. For three years, as a matter of course, progress was slow. It took time for mining men with capital to examine the veins and reefs of MINERAL BEARING ROCK, and so it happened that in 1889 the community was a mere mining camp. The town of Johannesburg was not a building of more than one story high or composed of better materials than slender wooden frames with corrugated zinc white sheets of iron over them.

The capitalists who took hold were first cautious enough to learn just what they had before they committed their money to the bringing to it and the most expert engineers and the most modern appliances were brought in to explore the veins of the ore. The result was an extraordinary yield of gold per ton of rock from the very beginning and an aggregate yield that is stupendous. The figures of the aggregate yield are not at hand, but during the month of June of the present year the amount amounted to 209,941 ounces—$3,000,000.

The building of a city where a camp had been set up was no small task. The place was 400 miles from port, and the routes were of the roughest. Hardware and other materials had to be hauled in or carts a journey of forty days and more. How the price of

A KEO OF NAILS, for instance, grew during such a journey the people of the far west camps can guess. But the nails were brought, and so were the other necessities of life, and so it was that there found a city of banks and mercantile houses of cut stone and brick, a great stock exchange, two theatres, hotels fit for royalties, and a railway line, and everything for the convenient transaction of business and for the comfort of life is found there.

What it has come a railroad, "a monument to the perseverance and resolution of one man—President Kruger." The enterprise was begun with many difficulties, but it is a fine and regular train began to run.

The town itself numbers 40,000 inhabitants. It is one of the most modern and most work in the mines and prospecting for new mines in the country roundabout. And now that the railroad has assured a market, the people are turning their attention to the taking advantage of the rich soil and favorable climate of the Transvaal.

In the far west one may find towns some miles from the coast, but if one may believe in the stories told by travellers there is nothing in the world to equal what is now being accomplished by the citizens of this newest South African city.

A CHRISTIAN OUTRAGE.

How Much Better are We Than the Chinese? What is the Answer?

Sam Lung, a Chinese laundryman near New York, has a story to tell. He was born in San Francisco, and is now living with his father. Last Monday, says the Boston Herald, Lung, who had got his boys admitted as pupils in a public school, took them there and they were put in a class in the primary department. Before the class was dismissed at noon threats of violence were made against them. Neither was molested on his way home, but when they approached their classroom shortly before one o'clock more violent threats were made by other boys, and they appealed to the teacher for protection. In the afternoon the Chinese lads were beaten by other boys, pummeled in the head and also stoned. Policemen were obliged to disperse the crowd and place the boys in the hall of a house until further assistance arrived. And the newspapers of this free land are crying out at the Chinese for their outrageous and foreign misdeeds! What is the difference, pray, between our boasted civilization, our watchword of fraternity and equality, and the savage roving of the children of Confucius? In the name of Christianity, one of the oldest religions of the world, we are Chinese for the rights which every man, every nation inherits from the soil on which they stand, are invaded by a people alien to the land, and who are despised by the people of the land. ST. MARK'S HARVEST AT HOME.

A most enjoyable entertainment was given in St. Mark's Hall on Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society. A large audience assembled and thoroughly enjoyed the good things provided for the occasion.

Rev. J. H. H. Coleman made a most very apt and happy remarks in his capacity of chairman. The opening of the program was a duet in the piano by the Misses Poirer and Slavin, which was excellently rendered and well received.

H. K. Bedford followed with a very amusing reading entitled "The little vulgar boy," and received hearty and well earned applause, as he also did later in the evening, when he gave a selection from Southern's "Lord Dundreagh."

Bedford is a host in himself, and it is to be hoped, he will be heard from at the next entertainment. Mr. Fowler sang the "Song of the Steeples" in fine voice and was ably assisted in the duet chorus by Miss Field. Miss Slavin's violin solo, which was rendered with exquisite taste and execution, brought the first part of the program to a close.

The chairman announced that there would be an intermission of thirty minutes for refreshments, during the administration of the program was provided, the ladies especially thought they had not done enough for the occasion, and the tables in the centre of the hall were beautifully and artistically arranged with an abundant assortment of refreshments.

Among the prominent among which were the home made candies, made by the fair hands of some of the ladies present, they were delicious, the candies, made by the hands of the ladies, were in fact in fact, they were the most and sweetest.

The ladies who had prepared the refreshments, on this occasion were Mrs. Poirer, Mrs. McGehee, Mrs. Edward Wilson and Mrs. Kerr, they were assisted by a boy of thirteen, and a girl of ten, who were whom we may mention the Misses Poirer, Leah McGehee, Tait, Egar, Hall, Nasmith and Mennelly.

The management showed themselves to be in the best of keeping by the help of the boys, that ice cream was in great demand. The second part of the program was opened by a vocal quartet composed of Misses Field and Hull and Messrs. Fowler & Bennett. The song given was entitled "With the tide," it was superlatively rendered and fairly brought down the house.

Miss Tottle Ball's reading, "The Flying Dutchman," was splendid; she shows elocutionary powers of no mean order. It is a beautiful piece, and we think we can pay her no higher compliment than to say that she did it justice. Mr. Godolphin's solo "Anchored" was well received.

The reading of the Irish Priest's sermon from the text "He who giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord" proved a very broad smile. The entertainment was brought to a close by singing "God save the Queen." We trust that the Ladies Aid Society will have another entertainment before long.

We must not omit to say that the hall was appropriately and tastefully decorated for the occasion. The program was in the hands of H. K. Fowler, the worthy and energetic choir master of St. Mark's, and the success of the evening is very largely due to his energy and enterprise.

Mr. J. H. Coleman, of Belleville, the leadership of Master Charles McGehee, they did their share in helping the good cause along.

Only "night owls" are treated to the scientific exhibition of bat-killing that goes on every morning on Jefferson street, between Fourth and Fifth.

For the past month bats, attracted in large numbers by the lights have been flocking about the store, and night owls are busy with the pin of a Fourth. From the first Henry Cook has taken delight in catching these greasy animals as they flow.

When those who are about to be used a broom secured from the restaurant, and they started toward him he knocked them down with a broom. His record for one night was six. He began to think that he was taking an undue advantage of the animals, so he started to practice with the broom, and he was not long in doing so.

DEATH OF JOHN PRICKETT.

Few events have cast a deeper gloom over the community or elicited more general expressions of sorrow than the sudden removal of John Prickett, one of the best known citizens of Deseronto, who on Sunday, Oct. 8th, was the unfortunate victim of a drowning accident.

It happened on Sunday afternoon, about 11 a. m., he with his two sons Ernest and Joseph set out from town in a small sailing skiff and after a pleasant row for some distance, they reached the shore at the spot where lies the wreck of the Quinte. Here the little party remained about an hour and half and then decided to proceed to the Bogart farm.

While sailing along the dog was in the boat and it was thrown out that it might follow along the shore. This it did for some time but after going some distance it turned about and returned to the spot, about one hundred yards south of the Quinte, whence they had started. Landing at the Bogart farm Ernest and Joseph went after some hickory nuts and held some conversation with the manager of the farm.

After a stay of over an hour both returned to the boat. Their father told them that they might remain there for some time and that he would go after the dog. When they reached the top of the hill they looked back and saw him sailing along to the right. This was their last view of him alive.

After an absence of two hours they returned to the shore but their father was not there as they expected. Mr. Prickett had spoken about going up to Huff's dock Ernest told Joseph to go up there and see if his father was in that direction and if so for him to call on the Bogart farm shore. Ernest walked along the shore for some distance and then waited for his brother who was half an hour without with no tidings of his father.

He started out along the shore in the direction of the wreck of the Quinte. By this time the boat had been found. The dog was a little over two hundred yards from the Quinte when they discovered the boat which was by the shore about fifty yards south of the wreck of the Quinte. The dog was in the boat, but there was no sign of their father. Both boys then had misgivings that something serious had happened. They looked along the shore, and thinking that possibly their father had met with an accident or perhaps fallen asleep, they started to go back to the shore and call on the Bogart farm.

There remained the possibility of his having been taken away by some passing friend to Deseronto and the two boys took their boat and hastened back to Deseronto. Mr. Prickett was not at his home and no one had seen him since. Volunteers soon offered their services to go over and institute a search of the locality where the boat was found and have him found. Luckily and promptly offered the use of his steam yacht.

With small boats in tow it was not long before the party arrived on the shore. Some of the ladies present and others commenced to grapple in the water. About 10:45 a. m. and after ten minutes grappling. Thos. Alexander and Wm. Gowan who were in the boat, were the first to get out of the unfortunate man to the surface. The body was found about twenty feet from the shore and a life distance from the Quinte in about thirty feet of water. The party brought the body to Deseronto and Dr. Yeomans, coroner, was summoned, but did not deem an inquest necessary as it was evident that the death was the result of an accident. It is conjectured that Mr. Prickett may have attempted to take the dog aboard while it was swimming and he fell over-board. Others think that he may have been trying to adjust the foresail and that in doing so he fell into the bay. However the exact way in which he met his death must ever remain a mystery. The grief of his wife and family was most intense and heart-rending.

John Prickett was a native of Laronco, Co. Pembroke, Wales, where he was married. He came to Canada about twenty-four years ago and settling in Kingston he was employed in the Kingston locomotive works and also in the Ontario foundry. His first home was on St. Catharines where he remained for some time, subsequently returning to Kingston. Twelve years ago he came to Deseronto where he had been employed over since as foreman of the extensive blacksmith shops of the Rabbitt Company. He was a very skillful mechanic always imparting a great deal of energy to his work. He was a member of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers. He was also at one time connected with the Sons of Gdolphin and was a member of the Deseronto Court of Independent Foresters, and an active worker in that great order. He was always happy and cheerful with a friendly smile for all comers. His quick active figure was one of the most familiar on the streets of Deseronto. He is survived by his wife and eight children, viz: William of Omaha; Mrs. M. J. Yordon, of Fort Plain N. Y.; Ernest, of the G. T. R. Co. Belleville, and Kate, Mary, Thomas, Joseph and Nellie at home with their mother.

The funeral, which was under the auspices of Court Deseronto, I. O. F., took place on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 9th, and was attended by a great concourse of citizens. Religious services were conducted at the house by Rev. J. H. Coleman. The members of Court Deseronto, seventy in number, marched ahead of the casket, and at their head was the Deseronto band. The casket was turned out as a mark of respect to one who had been a firm friend of the organization. A number of employees of the Rabbitt Company were present in a body. The bearers were Bros. Wallbridge, Rusk, Rayburn, Ferguson, McLaughlin and Mitchell. The band played suitable music and the progress of the procession was watched by large crowds of spectators. At St. Mark's church the services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Coleman. Leaving the church the procession returned. At the Deseronto cemetery the religious services were being read by Rev. J. H. Coleman. The burial service of the I. O. F. ritual followed. Rev. Wright and Foster officiating, and the funeral offerings were very handsome. The family have universal sympathy in their great bereavement.

DOUGLAS' EXHAUSTION CURE.

Relieved of Pain in Twenty-Four Hours.

Douglas Bros. & Co., Napanee, Ont.: Dear Sirs,—About two months ago I had a severe attack of Rheumatism, and without effect I tried several remedies, but without effect. The doctor told me I would be laid up for several days at least.

I had heard of your wonderful cure made by your Douglas' Egyptian Liniment I determined to try it, which I did by applying cloths wet with it to parts affected, and in twenty-four hours I was entirely relieved of the pain, which has not troubled me since, although I have been out for several days during my previous years. Yours, W. J. Dougan.

Tweed, Dec. 28th, 1892.

A NAPANEE WEDDING.

One of the prettiest house weddings that has ever taken place in Napanee took place Wednesday evening, Oct. 10th, when Miss Edith Wetley was united in marriage to Harry B. Fralick. The bridesmaid was Miss Jennie Botting, of Deseronto, and groomsmen Clark Botting, brother of the bride. The bride was handsomely attired in white and looked indeed very winsome.

The supper table was laid in the parlour by the Rev. Dr. McDiarmid, after which the guests, about sixty in number, sat down to a sumptuous repast. After a few pleasant hours spent in social enjoyment, Mr. and Mrs. Fralick took the two o'clock train for the west to spend their honeymoon. The presents were numerous and elegant, comprising both the useful and ornamental. The young couple are very popular in social circles and their host of friends wish them every happiness. After a ten days' sojourn in the west they will return and take up their residence on Centre street, Napanee.

DOCTORS AND FLY BLISTERS FAIL.

BUT ONE DOSE OF SOUTHERN RHEUMATIC CURE RELIEVES, AND HALF A BOTTLE CURES.

Robert E. Gibson, Pembroke's well known merchant, contracted rheumatism in very severe form in 1888, and have suffered untold misery each spring since, but have repeatedly applied fly blisters with but little success. He was then cured by the use of South American Rheumatic Cure by Mr. W. F. C. Bethel, of the Dickson Drug Company. The first dose gave instant relief and a half a bottle cured.

As a cure for rheumatism this remedy is certainly peerless. Sold by W. F. Egar.

Only meagre details are as yet available, but it is known that six men, established without a doubt: The house burned was that of Thos. Lindsay. Up till last night Mr. Lindsay's family consisted of his wife and six children, but on last night's disaster six of the children were burned to death. Those who perished were two young women, one aged eighteen, the other twelve, and two boys, one year and half old, and two others, whose description is not yet known. Besides the members of this little household, a couple living upstairs, and on being awakened by the fire jumped out of a window. Immediately after he struck the ground the roof of the house fell in, and a cash, a gold watch, besides clothing and blankets.

CHURCH OF THE REDEEMER.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed at the morning service last Sunday. There was a very large attendance of communicants and the service was of a most impressive character. In the evening Rev. W. S. McTavish, B. D., preached to a large congregation which filled the sacred edifice.

The Pastor, Rev. W. S. McTavish, after noon is gaining rapidly in numbers. Men and women are alike welcome. A special course of scripture study is being conducted by the Pastor, and the church is being taken up and summarized in order.

The Christian Endeavour Society is organizing its committee to give a view of procession to the mission house, and the church is being taken up and summarized in order.

The Ladies Aid Society held their annual "Thank Offering" service on Wednesday evening. It was of a very interesting character. Mr. A. response service, interpreted with singing, formed the introductory part of the program. Address were given by Bro. J. H. Coleman, P. G. B. D., and the Chairman. An excellent quartette by Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Dett, Mrs. Denmark and Miss Tuff was listened to with evident pleasure. The choir gave admirable assistance. The evening service was accompanied with alms giving, and a special gratitude to the Lord's Supper of the past year. The very liberal sum of thirty dollars was contributed for the fund of the Bible class in the church, and the pastor is much pleased with this practical result.

The Senior division of the Mission band meets this evening at 7:15 and the Junior division at 8:15 p. m.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever."

FRANCIS J. THOMPSON, Peninsula Lake, Ontario.

Political meeting.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier and other leading politicians will address a meeting at Sydenham on Friday, Oct. 18th. The Bay of Quinte Railway will offer excursions from all points on its line at greatly reduced rates. Train will leave Deseronto at 10 a. m. Returning will leave Sydenham at 6:30 p. m. Return fare, 75 cents.

Casualties.

Michael Nealon was thrown from his cart, the horse having started suddenly. He was thrown on his head and badly shaken up. Dr. Vandervoort attended to his injuries and he is now much better. J. M. Smith, of Dal's undertaking house, had two of his fingers badly crushed on Tuesday. Dr. Simpson did the needful.

Excursion to Sydenham.

In connection with the great political meeting to be held at Sydenham on Oct. 18, at which address will be delivered by Hon. Wilfrid Laurier and other leading public men, the Citizens Band, of Deseronto, will carry an excursion to Sydenham, leaving Deseronto, at 10 a. m. Fare for the round trip 75 cents. The Citizens Band, of Deseronto, will carry excursions from Deseronto on the same day. Trains call at all intermediate stations.

West Ward Election.

A meeting of the electors was held in the town hall on Friday, 4th inst., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the vacancy in the West ward. R. N. Irvine presided and the attendance was small and select. A. E. Gracy was nominated by D. W. Dart and Robert Adams, and George E. Clement by P. J. Wims and E. J. Edwards. Mr. Clement, who was not present, declined to run and A. E. Gracy being the only candidate takes the seat.

A Pleasant Entertainment.

The concert given by the "Ladies String Band" in the Salvation Army barracks on Wednesday evening was a great success. The programme was of much merit, and the large audience were highly delighted, being held spell-bound until after ten o'clock. The only complaint was that the admission fee was too small. The desire was freely expressed that the Band should again favor Deseronto. It is not improbable that the wish will be acceded to and after visiting Kingston and other points east, Deseronto will again be favored about three weeks hence.

A Busy Contractor.

G. E. Clement has the contract of finishing the new Oddfellows' hall and is rushing the work with his usual energy. He will erect a house 20x48 ft., 15 ft. post with kitchen 13x14 ft. for George Thomas on Thomas street immediately adjoining the driving park. He is also repairing Wm. Mitchell's house, and lately finished counters for the stores of Messrs. Snider and Hoppins.

He lately finished a livery barn for R. H. Carswell at Tamworth, the structure being 24x40 ft., 16 ft. post with stables complete. He is also finishing C. J. Coxall's brick house in Tamworth.

Death of Luther Gaylord.

Luther Gaylord died at his residence Main street, Friday, Oct. 4th, having been ill of malarial fever for about six weeks. Deceased, who was fifty-five years of age, was born in the township of Ernestown. He was a miller by trade and was for fourteen years with Robert & John R. Grange at their mill in Tamworth. He also spent five years at Forest Mills. About eight years ago he came to Deseronto where he was employed in the Rathbun Company's flour mills. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, having joined Napanee lodge about twenty-four years ago. Thirty years ago he married Janet Snider, of Ernestown, by whom he had five children—four sons and one daughter. He is survived by his wife and four sons, viz.: John and Frank, of Deseronto, and Thomas and King, of New York City. It will be remembered that his only daughter Emily died on Sept. 27th, one week before her father. The funeral took place on Sunday and was numerously attended. Religious services were conducted at St. Mark's after which the remains were interred in the Deseronto cemetery. Mr. Dart conducted the funeral arrangements.

Citizens' Band.

The open air concert given by the Citizens' Band on Thursday evening, 3rd inst., is deserving of special mention, as the music was of a very high class and the execution was of a most excellent character. The Willard Co. on Monday night will be put on at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning and from the number of people who have asked to have seats laid aside for them it is a sure fact that the opening night will test the capacity of the house as those wishing to get good seats will do well to reserve them at once and avoid the rush.

A report of the very successful Harvest At Home held on Tuesday will be seen elsewhere in this connection. Also, it is the friends outside the congregation, who so kindly lent their aid to the presentation of the excellent programme of the S. M. Bennett, Miss Hull and Miss Slaven.

The services on Friday evening will be continued at 7:30, the increased attendance seeming to show that this is a more congenial hour.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH NOTES.

Large congregations on Sunday attested the thankfulness of the congregation to the Lord of the harvest, for the material prosperity of the year. The Rev. W. Lewis of Kingston was the preacher, and his sermons with their wealth of thought and beauty of expression, were based on the words "I am the Bread of Life," in the Gospel of John. The field is the world, it is the evening. The labour and care of Mr. Fowkes, choirmaster, Miss McCaughy, organist, and the choir, were the masterpiece of the evening, the congregation's appreciation of the excellent musical services. Willing hands had decorated the interior of the sacred edifice with taste and propriety, and we heartily thank both those who contributed of their substance to adorn God's house and also the others, who either aided the choir or assisted in other ways in making the Harvest services bright and good.

UNKNOWN RIVER FOUND.

IT FLOWS INTO JAMES BAY THROUGH A TRACT OF LAND 500 MILES IN LENGTH.
OTTAWA, Oct. 16.—A river larger than any other situated in this province, and having an unlimited area of timber lands, and unknown country suitable for agricultural purposes is what Dr. Robert Bell, assistant director of the geological survey, who has just returned from a trip to James Bay, reports having discovered. Dr. Bell, accompanied by Mr. Alex. Barclay, son of the Rev. Dr. Barclay, of St. Paul's Church Montreal, left Ottawa on this trip about the end of June. Their route was direct north from Ottawa, across the right bank of the Ottawa, across the Bay by the most direct watercourse. The trip by water course was nearly eight hundred miles. Five hundred miles of this route, except with great difficulty. The river banks are heavily wooded with pine, spruce, tamarac, balsam, and white birch. The primeval forest along the whole length of the river. Fire has not wrought any destruction yet.

Shortly after they crossed the height of land, the party followed an unknown river, which gradually widened until it assumed a great size. They followed this river to James Bay. The river had three large branches, one of which has its source north of Three Rivers, another in the Lake St. John region, and the other near Lake Missisquoi.
The new river for which the Indians have no name, is much larger than the Ottawa, and Dr. Bell affirms it to be the sixth of the greatest rivers of the world, few of which are to be found in Canada. Its average width is considerably over a mile, and it has expansions many miles in width. It flows through a low level country, very deep, and may be called a new Nile of the north. The river is 500 miles in length, and great stretches would be navigable for steamers. Towards James Bay there are successions of great rapids which render it useless as an inland route. These rapids cannot be ascended except with great difficulty. The river banks are heavily wooded with pine, spruce, tamarac, balsam, and white birch. The primeval forest along the whole length of the river. Fire has not wrought any destruction yet.

GENERAL MANAGER HAYS.
Toronto, October 16.—K. A. Richardson, Toronto, agent of the Valparaiso, said today: "During twelve years I have been connected with the Wabash railway I have come in constant contact with the now president of the G. T. R. Mr. Hays. I consider him one of the brightest railway men of the age. He is very strict in regard to the maintenance of the road, and is a free-lance himself. He allows no employee to drink or smoke on duty. Discretion of duty calls for great vigilance. As vice-president of the Wabash he is a general favorite with all under his orders, and, notwithstanding his strictness of duty, he is immensely popular with the employees of the road generally. Mr. Hays will be the youngest man who ever occupied the position, and he will fill it in a way that no other man could."

DOUGLAS'S EGYPTIAN LINIMENT

WORTHY OF NOTE, AND SHOULD BE IN EVERY HOUSEHOLD THIS SEASON OF THE YEAR.
Douglas's Pro. & Co., Nanapan: On February 18, 1884, I met with an accident tearing my feet. Our physician was called in and treated my case. Finally I was told and he would have to cut my foot off, but fortunately before so doing we received a letter from your Mr. Douglas, stating he had sent an account of my misfortune to the Toronto Star, and had expressed and proposed to my address one (1) bottle of Douglas's Egyptian Liniment, which he strongly advised me to have used before allowing any portion of my foot to be amputated, since the only cause of the genuineness of Douglas's Egyptian Liniment at such a critical moment. I at once had confidence in the Liniment and had it used twice in the new church. On 8 times when all the frozen flesh dropped off, the foot began to show signs of improvement. It was so wonderfully and continued until restored. It certainly has saved me from being horribly crippled for life. I can never repay you for your kind and generous action. I have the name of Douglas's Egyptian Liniment, I trust, as long as I live. Respectfully yours, Miss. John Marks, Cameron, Fennell Tp. Oct. 24.

DO YOU TIRE QUICKLY?

Fatigue is the natural sequence of labor. If, however, it follows moderate or slight exertion, it is a sign and evidence that the nervous system has lost tone and vigor, and requires assistance. Sudden is a resort to stimulants, since they only increase the exhaustion. Aid cannot be obtained in this way, but through medication, judiciously employed in restoring through the nervous system the digestive function, upon which primarily, health depends. The whole range of medicine fails to produce a preparatory condition of the system with Coca Wine. By the action of Maltine with Coca Wine upon the nervous system all the labor of the system is stimulated and increased; the digestive process is performed efficiently and without discomfort, restoring the proper nourishment to the body. The latest science of medicine vividly disposes depression; forbidding and despondency, and soon the quickening impulses of Coca Wine are felt by all druggists.

A GREAT FAMILY NEWSPAPER.

No family is so poor that it need go without a weekly paper. No family is so rich that it can afford to do without one. No family rich or poor can afford to forget that the best paper is the cheapest and the one that brings big returns on the investment. The Family Herald and Weekly Star is a paper makes itself indispensable to every member of the household. It interests, helps, amuses and instructs, makes itself readable, and once taken is never abandoned. There is no such paper in Canada—the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal, which circulates in every known part of the Dominion; and is every where acclaimed as the greatest weekly published.
Every subscriber to the Family Herald in Canada sends one hundred dollars against railway accidents free of cost.
Splendid as are its qualities as a family journal, however, it has recently been enlarged from twelve to sixteen pages, and interesting new features and departments have been added. Each issue is a wonder, and is received by the reader with amazement that so great a paper can be published for the price. If you don't know the Family Herald, you should send at once for a sample copy.
The Family Herald and Weekly Star is only a dollar a year, and is sent to those who have sent it that the Family Herald has a premium picture, entitled "Little Queenie," this year for yearly subscribers. There is no time to lose in the whole subscription. This is very an age of wonders.

A Long Wait for Pay.

Local d-dubs were no more to the days of pub-life. If the pub-her pay on the acceptance of a manuscript, the writer was to wait for his money. He naturally hesitated to give his book in the window and leave his friends convinced that he was a failure. He had to wait for an article or a novel that is to be paid for on publication, occasionally receive all hope of living to see it in print, and then wait for the publisher to pay for an article over eleven years and another firm has not yet paid a book that was written for the manuscript delivered five years ago.

They have some queer stonecutters down in Maine. Doncor Hockett lost his second wife lately, a scrawny and shrewish woman, whose loss was an unmitigated sorrow. Still, the stonecutters dutifully decided to give her a monument. Local medical men are looking very cheerful at present. The town council by its inaction in the matter of providing good drainage and a system of waterworks, guarantees a superabundance of malaria and typhoid cases. But in addition to this the time of year has arrived when chills have to close doors and windows and start furnaces. Whole congregations are paraded and breathe the most vitiated atmosphere while church authorities make little or no effort to give relief. Hot, stifling churches, more employment to doctors than cholera, small-pox and diphtheria all combined.

CANADIAN TOMATOES IN ENGLAND.

Two shipments of Canadian tomatoes to England made at experiments have been reported upon. They have demonstrated the possibility of developing an important trade in this respect. Of the first shipment forty boxes reached Bristol, and the second shipment, which arrived at good prices. Large boxes containing from fifty to fifty-six pounds of fruit were slightly rotted and did damage to otherwise sound tomatoes. The experiment shows that articles require ventilation and proper packing to reach England in marketable condition. The second shipment was more successful than the first. Both have proven to the English trade the excellent keeping qualities of the Canadian tomatoes.

CURIOSITIES OF MEANNESS.

It Assumes Many Forms and Shows Men and Women at Their Worst.

Meanness assumes many forms. There is the mean man who is generally despised by his inferiors because he invariably omits the extra and gratuitous which are customary at certain seasons and occasions; and there is the other man who can earn the dorian of his equals by petty acts of meaness.

It is for instance, the man who is a miser who stays at a certain palatial country seat belonging to a very wealthy man to find that the wine which is served to them at dinner is by no means above suspicion of a doubt which is discreetly confirmed when it becomes evident that the hostess, though apparently sparkling like some wine, is served out of special bottles or decanters which are offered to no one but her.

For the miser, the hostess is a miser, in short, the host was willing to suffer himself and punish his guests in the palace, but had not been able to induce his wife to submit to the same discipline. Father, however, than lose the petty saving, he was content to endure the open contempt and loss of friends which this conduct procured.

Of a similar type was a wealthy man who recently gave a most sumptuous and expensive dinner party at a fashionable restaurant. Every thing was well done, and the wine was of the costliest kind.

On the disgust of the miser, the champagne was only taken round once, and the feast no doubt made a very considerable saving for many pounds do not drink wine till the champagne comes, and most people take two or three glasses of that beverage.

Another wealthy man, who supplies his guests with the very finest cigars after dinner and in the smoking-room, was a curious and undignified weakness.

The cigars and the lights in the smoking-room, of a box shop, like those in the tobacconist's shops with which the guests are expected to do the business of the evening. Moreover, this is no more convenient. The guest who attempts to use a knife for the purpose will find that the host's eye is upon him, and the host's voice will tell him in anxious tones that the cutter will come to him directly.

If he persists, he will find to his amazement that the host is appealing to him to "spoil" such a good cigar by "hacking it about." The natural conclusion is that the host is a miser.

Another man of position and wealth, who had no possible excuse for his conduct but a naturally miserly nature, was the habit of staying downstairs in the dining-room after the men had gone into the drawing-room. It was long suspected that this was in order to drink in private.

One evening an inquisitive guest lingered behind the rest and watched him through the chink of the door. He saw him collect the "best" which remained in the glasses, and pour them into separate decanters. The story created general disgust, and from that time the master and mistress of X. have found it difficult to fill their house with guests.

With the revival of the Napoleonic legend, it is not singular that we should have books about his avarice and miserly nature. A very curious one has lately been published entitled "Historic Doubts as to the Execution of Marshal Ney." We all remember Archibald Wemyss's book, called "Historic Doubts Concerning Napoleon Bonaparte," in which he gravely argued that no such person ever existed. This was a satire, and so was the present.

There have been other similar satires meant to point a moral or adorn a tale, but that is not the case in the present instance. The writer James Westcott, who is called "Historic Doubts Concerning Napoleon Bonaparte," in which he gravely argued that no such person ever existed. This was a satire, and so was the present.

"THE COMMON PEOPLE."

As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments.

They want a medicine that will cure them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of this medicine.

It is this that many thousands voluntarily say.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, cure headache.

NOTHING IS MORE PAINFUL

Than the reaction of the consumptive, when life is slowly ebbing away.

But science has come to the rescue, and all afflicted that way may be restored if they will only take the medicine of Norway.

Wegman Cod Liver Oil. It is as sweet as cream, so that the most fastidious can take it.

After a few doses new blood comes to the rescue, and in a short time the patient is again healthy and hopeful.

With a new lease of life. It will almost raise the dead. Miller's Emulsion is the great nerve strengthener and blood maker, and cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Scrofula and all lung affections. In Big Bottles, 50c, and $1 at W. G. Egan and W. J. Malley.

SORES FROM BAD BLOOD.

Dear Sirs,—For quite a long time my blood was very bad, large sores would break out on me from a small scratch.

I started to take your B. B. R. which completely cured me. I recommend Burdock Blood Bitters to all suffering from bad blood.

OLIVE COLE, Lyndebach, Ont.

THREATENED WITH PNEUMONIA.

Gentlemen,—Last spring I had a very heavy cold and was threatened with pneumonia. I used two bottles of Norway Pine Syrup and it completely cured me.

It is the best preparation for a cough I have ever used.

J. K. MACDONALD, Wychemong, Cape Breton.

HANDS AND ANKLES RAV.

For years I have been a great sufferer from dry skin trouble and salt rheum. My hands and ankles were literally raw.

The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment allayed the burning, itching sensation. O o box and a half entirely cured me. It is the instant relief for chilblains. Henry A. Parmenter, St. Catharines, Ont.

TEN THOUSAND TIMES.

Ten thousand times over Hagar's Pectoral Balm has proved itself a sure cure for coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, sore throat, quinsy and all pulmonary complaints.

TO CURE CROUP.

Dear Sirs,—I have used Hagar's Yellow Oil with all my children for Croup, and I find it is the best remedy I have made. I am never without it in the house.

MRS. T. H. JACKSON, Milton, Man.

NOT MERELY RELIEF BUT CURE

It is said of many remedies that they relieve for a time but the disease afterwards returns. Burdock Blood Bitter, being a radical cure, not only relieves but permanently cures (Dyspepsia, Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Bad Blood, etc.) Hundreds of healthy witnesses tell gladly that B. B. R. cures to stay cured.

AL. SMITH, Wheatlands, Man.

DOCTORS SAY IT IS THE BEST.

Gentlemen,—I recommend Miller's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion with pleasure. Last July I took Congestion of the Lungs and was laid for four weeks. I was very weak and could not speak above a whisper.

Dr. Lawson of Hamilton, attended me and sent a bottle of Miller's Emulsion. The very best made and soon restored my voice and brought me back to health again. Truly yours,

AL. SMITH, Wheatlands, Man.

See a Wonderful A. Autograph.

When you think of the other day the marvelous vault at Mustrecht, which are one of the sights of the place, so was requested by the author.

He is the author of a most interesting and valuable book, which bears the signatures of many other sovereigns, Dutch and foreign, prominent among them the autograph of the first Napoleon. Just at the very moment when she was about to comply with the request three tiny gnomes sprang out from behind a pillar and exclaimed, in accordance with time-honored custom:

"Who are you that dare add your name to that of William the Silent and of many illustrious rulers of the Netherlands?"

Queen Wilhelmina had been so prepared for this little piece of pantomime, replied:

"I am the daughter of this King. Will you permit me to add my name to that of my father and my grandfather?"

"Whereupon the gnomes—three small boys dressed up for the occasion—bowed low, received her name and retired."

AL. SMITH, Wheatlands, Man.

Mr. Platehouse—"Well, how does this new girl take?"

Mr. Platehouse—"She takes everything in sight."

THE MOST remarkable engine on record has been accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is unequalled for COLD DISEASES!

The Patterson was kind enough to give him a practical illustration.

Ask your question, was the reply.

I live in Moom county, and I have a son but who comes down here every afternoon. The last time he was here he came with his coat ripped up the back and took home, and said a policeman had given him the collar.

THE LOON LAKE HOLOCAUST.

The Awful Experience of the Lindsay Family.

BURNED IN THEIR BEDS—ALL ATTEMPTS AT RESCUE FAILED—THE FATHER'S LIFE IN DANGER FROM HIS INJURIES—THE FRIGHT OF THE SURVIVORS—AN EIGHT MILE JOURNEY TO THE NEAREST RELATIVES.

KALAMATH, Oct. 10.—The terrible holocaust at Loon Lake at midnight on Tuesday, proves upon fuller investigation to be even worse than at first reported. In its awful details of carnal destruction, the statement that six of the children of Thomas Lindsay perished in the great flames is happily verified, and in addition Mr. Lindsay himself was so frightfully injured in his frenzied efforts to save his children that he will probably be crippled for life, and may possibly perish before his eyes. Mrs. Lindsay is also suffering from very painful lacerations, which will, however, not prove serious. The parents of the victims of the appalling disaster are as follows: Charlotte Lindsay, aged twenty-one years; Pauline Victoria Lindsay, aged seventeen years; Rosina Lindsay, aged thirteen years; Thomas Adam Lindsay, aged eight years; Guy W. Lindsay, aged five and a half years; and Ula Pearl Lindsay, aged one year. These were all sleeping together in a large bedroom upstairs, and after the fire was discovered one of the men came from any one of them, so that it may be hoped, as some slight alleviation of the crushing blow, that death came painlessly by suffocation before the flames had time to reach them. The other five members of the family, father, mother, two girls and one little boy, were sleeping down stairs, and they narrowly escaped with their lives. The house, with its entire contents, was completely consumed, the total monetary loss being about $1,000, upon which there was not a dollar's worth of insurance. Three lumbermen, who were occupying temporary sleeping quarters in another room upstairs, dropped from a window and escaped bodily injury, though they lost everything but the clothes they could snatch up in their flight. The cause of the disaster is a large two-acre farm which forms a peninsula in Loon Lake, in the township of Angleside, about twenty-five miles northwest of this place, and is situated on the shore of the lake, and somewhat further northeast of Tweed. It is a wild and lonely spot, six miles distant from the nearest neighbor, and approachable only by a little frequently used road running for miles through the shrubby bush, up hill and down dale, over rocks and corduroy, the last six miles of which is nothing but a narrow, crooked, and treacherous track, which a good team can scarcely cover in less than an hour and a half. Three years ago, April 1st, a little party, say, with his wife and seven children, moved out from this township and took possession of the farm. At first they occupied the little shack, but before long the first winter closed they had erected the more commodious dwelling house which is now in ashes. Lindsay was a partial cripple having lost the left leg of his right arm from rheumatism. But he was a steady fellow with a brave little wife and strong growing girls, who, in the absence of big brothers, could turn their hand to almost anything around the farm.

On Tuesday night Mrs. Lindsay and the children related shortly after eight o'clock of the eldest girl, Margaret, a young woman of twenty-three years, and baby Lula occupying a bed with their mother in the downstairs sleeping room, and that a little after four o'clock, another bed in the same room. The other six children went to bed upstairs in the east room over the dining-room. The father did not retire to bed, but sat by the kitchen stove chatting with the three roomers, Peter Laberge and his son Joseph, and Joseph Rem, lumbermen, who had gone out to the place to lumber through the winter, and were staying a few days in the house while they fitted up their little shanty for permanent quarters. It was ten o'clock or thereabouts when the men separated, and Lindsay himself was the last to leave the kitchen, after seeing, as he thought, that he had put up the fire in the dining room, and was safely out. The three roomers went upstairs to their rooms, the sitting room in the front of the house, and the father and mother in the bedroom in the downstairs bedroom. Scarcely an hour had elapsed when Mrs. Lindsay was aroused by a noise of crashing and deep, sudden roar. She started from the bed and crying loudly to the others in the room, rushed through the sitting room to the dining room when she saw a bright light shining under the kitchen door. Her husband was close behind her, and he started to open the door when he was driven back by the advancing flames.

"Save the children!" screamed the agonized mother and Lindsay ran to the staircase as his wife attempted to close the door again, but her feet slipped and she fell head first on her hands and wrists from which she is suffering, while her hair was singed from the flames. She was unable to get up, and as the smoke was already blinding them, and as the fire was now in the front door, which opened out from the dining-room at the foot of the stairs, she snatched out the window frame and threw it out of the house. In the meantime Lindsay had started upstairs, but before he could get more than half way up the dining room door had burst open in perfect hurricane of fury. Stunned, burned and blinded, he fell backwards to the ground and groped his way for the door. In his bewilderment he passed it, and found himself beside the sitting room window, which he dashed out and clambered through. The three men upstairs had been aroused and were hurrying to escape, and the mother hearing the noise supposed the children were getting out all right. It was not until she met her husband outside that she learned the awful fact of his failure, and at almost the same moment the roar of the flames and the entire structure became a scintilla furnace. To attempt to describe that moment of supreme agony would be to overburden the reader. One of the men, not the help, survivors of memory, and not one of them can today tell exactly how it occurred in the few minutes which followed.

The three men in the upstairs room dropped from the window and reached the ground unburned. In reply to the scarcely coherent supplications of the poor mother they declared that they had attempted to get to the children in the room adjoining theirs, but were driven back by the flames, which even then had full possession of the room. They added that they could neither hear nor see anything of the children, and supposed they had escaped. This statement appears to confirm the belief that some of the children, awake to consciousness, and must have happily died a painless death. It was a bitterly cold night, and none of those who had escaped were fully clad. Margaret, the eldest girl, had gone to bed with a bad attack of neuritis, and had lain down without undressing. The others had snatched up a few garments, and these they put on as they stood watching the destruction of their home. Then when the last lingering hope had died away, the heart-broken little group sought refuge at the foot of the house. Then when the men went to the stable and hit up the team. Then the poor remnants of that errantable happy and quiet family, five survivors of eleven, started on their dreary journey of eight miles over rocks and fallen timber to Mrs. Lindsay's father's farm, the husband, frozen with his wife, to be conveyed and buried by his own injuries, walking the whole distance, being unable to bear the jolting of the wagon, or the inequality of the drive. It was three o'clock yesterday morning when the little company reached its destination, and among the startled grandmothers, told their pitiful tale of woe.

Then I found them this afternoon. As I drove up to the unsuspicious little log cabin, the men came down the path and greeted me. Having learned that he was John Lamb, Mrs. Lindsay's father, and having family, five survivors of eleven, I was hospitably invited inside. Entering the large, low-pitched living room, the first object that attracted my attention was a mattress on the floor, the corners of which stretched the motionless figure of a man, covered all but the feet with a shawl. It was poor Lindsay, who lay in his bed, silently bearing the excruciating pains of his terrible burns. Both hands were wrapped up in bandages, and I learned that the doctor who had just been there a month before my arrival, had given doubts of saving either of them, so horribly had they been injured. His weeping wife sat in a rocking chair beside him, nursing baby Lula, a little Felix played at her feet, all unconscious of the dire calamity that had overshadowed them. The woman, a pleasant-faced, intelligent girl, sat near by, silently mourning her lost sisters and companions. There were many relatives present, for they are a large family, and a few ladies, who, I was told, I asked how Mr. Lindsay was getting along, and his wife raised the shawl that I might see his face. It was a distressing sight, the features were discolored and terribly swollen, so that both eyes were completely closed. Large blisters covered nearly the whole face, the lips were raw and bleeding, the incrustations burned and the hair fell ashen. When he made that fearful rush up the stairway he had on a worn night cap, and to its destruction alone may be attributed the escape of the head from harm, for every portion of the face and neck which was unprotected by clothing was burned. His eyes were permanently injured, cannot yet be ascertained, nor are the doctors sure whether he has been internally hurt by inhaling the smoke, or by the fall down stairs. His back was also hurt, and, altogether, under the most favorable circumstances, it will be a tedious recovery to even partial health. He roused up somewhat before I left and said a few words; they were scarcely audible to any but his watchful wife, who, forgetful of her husband's sorrow, cried loudly to him to save and bleed, the little creature burst into tears and the father bawled, when he made that fearful rush up the stairway he had on a worn night cap, and to its destruction alone may be attributed the escape of the head from harm, for every portion of the face and neck which was unprotected by clothing was burned. ### A CHOLERA CURE.

The Herald's Tokio despatch says: It was announced some weeks ago that Dr. Kitasato, a prominent natural scientist of Tokio, had discovered a sure cure for cholera. The doctor was invited to experiment in the cholera hospitals here, and was said to cure of 83 patients whom he treated but 12 died. This is a mortality of 15 per cent. The average daily death rate in the hospitals throughout the empire has been to date over 85 per cent. It would seem that, while Dr. Kitasato has not produced a specific remedy, he has made a discovery which cannot fail to prove of value to the medical profession. Nobody knows as yet the nature of his treatment, but it is not to be supposed that he will long deny any science the character of his discovery. As the cholera has now slowly dying out in all sections of Japan, it may be that the doctor will not be able to publish his discovery in the manner in which the authorities have fought the plague and kept it under control out of the notice to admiration of the world. They have demonstrated that the way to crush epidemics is to fight earnestly, systematically and persistently.

DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT OF TYNDINGA.

We have to record, this week, the death of one of the oldest and most respected residents of the Township of Tyndinga, in the person of Mrs. Ellen Kennedy, relict of the late Richard Kennedy, who passed away on the 18th inst., surrounded by her children and family by the rites of the Catholic church. The deceased lady was born in 1802 at Boyle, Co. Roscommon, Ireland, and came to this country in 1850, settling in Tyndinga, and residing ever since on the homestead where she died. She survived her late husband twenty-two years, during which time she remained with her son, Michael, and two daughters in the old home. Another daughter, Ellen, religious name Sister Dolores, joined the community of St. Joseph, Toronto, twenty-five years ago. The deceased was ninety-three years of age and was beloved of all who knew her. She was evidenced by the large number who assembled to pay the last tribute of respect to her memory by attending her funeral which took place last Friday. The funeral was held over a mile in length at the home of the deceased. It was the largest funeral ever held in the cemetery at Tyndinga. The funeral was held at the home of the deceased, which was a fine place in the cemetery at Tyndinga. ### UNVEILING THE MONUMENT.

Dr. Newton and W. G. Egar, representing the Liberal-Conservative Association of Deseronto, went to Kingston on Wednesday to participate in the ceremony of unveiling the monument in memory of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, G. C. B. At Deseronto Junction they boarded the train from Belleville on which were W. Macdonald, Premier of Canada, W. B. Northrup, M. P., H. Corby, M. P., and other representative men of the district, by whom they were warmly greeted. At Napanee, Mr. Wilson, M. P., and others joined the party, and each station along the route furnished its quota. At Kingston Junction the car could not hold the numbers and box cars had to be requisitioned. The Bay of Quinte delegates made their headquarters at the British American hotel. The premier was the guest of John McIntyre, G. C. B., and each station along the route furnished its quota. At Kingston Junction the car could not hold the numbers and box cars had to be requisitioned. The Bay of Quinte delegates made their headquarters at the British American hotel. The premier was the guest of John McIntyre, G. C. B., and each station along the route furnished its quota.

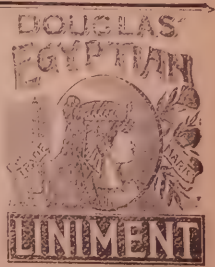

The monument, which is very imposing, stands at the main entrance to the city park, facing cityward. On each side stands, keeping grim silent sentry one of the "Purveyors of Malcolp," as they are called by the British troops at Sebastopol when that stronghold fell in 1856. The statue is a magnificent piece of work by Mr. G. Wade, of London, England, and represents Sir John in the uniform of a Privy Counsellor. It is of massive bronze, eleven feet in height, and weighs two and one-half tons. It is undoubtedly very faithful as a characteristic likeness, which, as the sculptor had not the assistance of life studies in his work, reflects the greatest credit upon him. It possesses that delicate greenish cast, resembling the verde antique of the celebrated ancient statues of Rome. Those who have seen the ancient graces in the British Museum cannot fail to notice the dark greenish cast on their surfaces—which is the result, probably, of the action of the atmosphere on the metal during a long series of years—and it is this peculiarly beautiful tint that the modern sculptors endeavor to imitate, and in which the French are especially successful. The original model in the studio of Mr. Wade was inspected by the Baroness Macdonald and Sir Charles Tupper, and received, we are highly pleased to say, their approval. It is a replica of the statue erected in Montreal. Sir John A. Macdonald, which was some time ago placed in St. Paul's Cathedral. The pedestal, which is from the design of Messrs. E. R. Welch & Son, of this city, is in admirable keeping with the elegant statue which it supports. It is twelve feet each way at the base, and is fifteen and one-half feet in height. Its weight is thirty-seven tons, or seventy-four thousand pounds. It is made of the same colorless granite, obtained from the celebrated quarries of Messrs. Milne, Oults & Co., St. George, N. B. Messrs. Welch and Son's design for the pedestal is a masterpiece of architecture, submitted by the most prominent architects of Toronto and Montreal. On the face of the base appears the names of the donors, and the inscription, "The statue of Sir John A. Macdonald, G. C. B., erected by the people of the Province of Ontario, 1881-1882." The column which stands upon the base is highly polished, and the height from the foundation to the feet of the statue is fifteen feet five inches, the added height of the figure making the total height of the monument twenty-five feet five inches. The whole is a monumental work of art, of which Kingston may well be proud.

THE HUB HOTEL BURNED.

At five o'clock Friday morning, 18th inst., the Hub Hotel, Dundas street, Napanee, with its contents was destroyed by fire. When discovered the fire had spread through the roof and the building was in flames. The fire was not long until every part of the hotel was scorched. Some of the things found were unconformably warm for being able to get out. The building and furniture was a total loss. The occupant, Capt. Thompson, had some insurance on the contents, and the building being owned by a loan company is probably well insured.

GENEROUS CONTRIBUTIONS.

A number of people connected with the Methodist church of Empey Hill have very generously and thoughtfully contributed towards the assistance of the unfortunate Linde family who suffered so terribly from fire. The Empey Hill people have set an example which, no doubt, be generally imitated. A CLOSE CALL.
WATSON M'ADAM SAVED BY DOUGLAS' EGYPTIAN LINTMENT.

Mr. M'Adam writes: "Have doctored for two years with four eminent doctors for pain in my right leg, which prevented my doing anything. Had bad cough and night sweats, and was getting worse; the pain and suffering increased; hearing of such remarkable cures made by Douglas' Egyptian Lintment I determined to use it to remove the pain. I received immediate relief. I followed directions, pain decreased, cough felt a second man. It is now exactly three years this spring and I have had no relapse. As soon as I began to use the Lintment I stopped taking any medical whatever, and I do believe that Douglas' Egyptian Lintment has prolonged my life. I am firm in my statement and trust that other people when first taken with heavy cold on lungs will immediately do as I did as last resort, and save dollars."

A SHOOTING AFFAIR.

J. E. Johnston and Robert Parker, two farmers living about two miles south of Tweed, had a difference on Saturday, which is likely to become a serious matter. Johnston was engaged in loading muck from the concession road to use for fertilizing purposes, when Parker rushed up with a gun and claimed the muck as his property. Without waiting to discuss the matter, Johnston went to the muck pile and shot at Parker. Parker struck Johnston on the face with the muzzle of the gun, inflicting a bad wound over the right eye. Johnston says that he was a warrant issued for Parker's arrest. After disabling Johnston, Parker drove off with the load and appropriated it to his own use. Information was held this morning, and a warrant issued for Parker's arrest. He shot himself up in his house with two rifles, and defied arrest. He is a hunter and crack shot.

A GLAD HEART MAKES WORK LIGHT.

The best work can only be done when the body health is good, because the body reflects upon the mind, and a mental inertia supervenes when the body is infested. To have the body in a strong healthy condition, use Wilson's Invalids' Port Wine, which upon the first symptoms of debility, loss of appetite, and general weakness, should be regularly taken. And then it is a fine old wine, desirable for its own sake as a beverage, being pleasant, stimulating, and nourishing. Its great advantage to the invalid is that it makes blood which is so sadly needed and this gives a new vitality to the whole system. It is a tonic, an incomparable invigorant, and a general health-giver. It is sold by all dealers at $7.50 per case of 12 quart bottles, but a warrant issued for Parker's arrest. He shot himself up in his house with two rifles, and defied arrest. He is a hunter and crack shot.

A BIG SCHEME.

The Peterborough correspondent of the Globe writes: The William Hamilton Manufacturing Co. and the Canadian General Electric Co. have received the contract for the water power and general machinery and the electric plant, respectively, for the first three phase electric plant erected in Canada, from the town of Trenton. These contracts have been made for a plant to be erected on the main line to the Suspension Bridge, Belleville, Toronto and London; to build a branch line from Trenton to other points on the main line to the Suspension Bridge, Belleville, Toronto and London; to erect exceeding twenty-five miles from any point or points on the main line, etc.

ELECTRIC ROADS PROPOSED.

There is a prospect of a great fight in parliamentary circles about the use of electricity. Application will be made to parliament next session for an act to incorporate the Canadian Electric Railway and Power Company with power to build, operate and maintain an electric railway from Montreal to Windsor via Brockville, Kingston, Belleville, Toronto and London; to build a branch line from Trenton to other points on the main line to the Suspension Bridge, Belleville, Toronto and London; to erect exceeding twenty-five miles from any point or points on the main line, etc.

"I AM FINISHED; TELL MY WIFE."

A terrible accident took place Monday in a manufacturing establishment on St. Catherine street, Montreal. A workman named Albert Vautier was engaged polishing a piece of iron, when a large enemy wheel, making two thousand revolutions a minute, burst into a thousand pieces, striking the unfortunate man to the floor. Vautier's head was terribly crushed, but he held consciousness and said, "I am finished; go and tell my poor wife." The poor fellow was taken to the Hotel d'Orleans, where he died during the evening. He leaves a widow and three children.

Variable Autumn Weather Often Seals the Fate of Rheumatic Sufferers.

Victims of Rheumatism find a cure in Paine's Celery Compound.

Nothing Like it for Banishing the Awful Disease.

Old and Chronic Sufferers are Made Hale and Strong.

Mr. William McWilliams, of Bradford, Ont., writes as follows about his case:— "Unquestioned, I forward this testimonial to the value of Paine's Celery Compound. I am well up in years and was sorely afflicted with rheumatism. I purchased and used six bottles of your medicine, and am now perfectly well. I have no rheumatism left."

The above is just an ordinary sample of the proof that cured people furnish every week.

Let us utter a few words of warning to all who feel the pangs of a disease that makes life a misery and death a relief.

The most dangerous season of the year is now with us; there is no necessity to enlarge upon this fact. Chilling winds, damp weather and heavy, impure atmosphere, aggravate every condition of rheumatism, and brings many a sufferer to the grave.

Take courage all victims of rheumatism. If you have failed with doctors and the ordinary medicines of the day, remember, you have not yet given Paine's Celery Compound a trial. This marvelous medicine has made new men and women of thousands who were pronounced incurable by physicians.

It can be used by the same person who works for you, if you fairly and honestly use it for a time. Mr. McWilliams' case was one that baffled all other medicines but Paine's Celery Compound, which proved victorious at every point, giving him a new and better life. Go thou and follow his example.

Despite all the efforts of the best medical skill, he continued to grow weaker and death intervened on Tuesday morning. Deceased was a brother of W. J. Emerson, formerly teacher in Deseronto, at one time resided in Tyndenna, near Boscawen, where he carried on farming. A few years ago he removed to Tweed where he proved himself a man of great business energy and capacity. Miss Clementine Mackie gave a Scotch reading and Miss Nellie Morden, Nellie Gammon and May Elliott gave recitations. At the High Court in Belleville this week, among other cases was that of Martin v. McMahon, an action brought by Wm. Martin to set aside as fraudulent certain land and chattel mortgages made by Henry Brennan, of Tyndenna, to W. F. McMahon and wife. The case was referred to the Master to ascertain how much defendant Brennan owes Edith P. McMahon, Plaintiff, to be allowed to deduct upon payment of such indebtedness, and costs reser ved.

NEW MEASUREMENT ADOPTED.

A new departure has been made by the Inland Revenue department regarding measures for liquids. Hitherto only cylindrical measures have been sanctioned for use. It is now proposed to permit the use of conical measures. This necessitates the adoption of a different standard of measurement. Hereafter the standard will be that of weight instead of bulk. One gallon will be equal to ten pounds of distilled water at 62 degrees of heat, with the barometer at 30 degrees. The half gallon standard will be five pounds and so on. This is the practice that prevails in England and it will admit of more accurate measurements of liquids.

CARD.

I desire on behalf of myself and the members of my family to extend our thanks to all friends and especially to the members of Court Deseronto, No. 93, I. O. F., for the active assistance rendered and the numerous expressions of kindly sympathy conveyed to us on the occasion of the death of my late lamented husband, MRS. JOHN PICKETT.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH NOTES.

Mr. Arthur Morrison leaves for Toronto to-day to attend the Provincial Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, as delegate from St. Mark's Church.

There will be a special offering on Sunday morning on behalf of the fund of the Kingston County Hospital. We trust that the generous response made on "Hospital Sunday" last year will be repeated.

Next Monday is St. Simon and St. Jude's Day. These two Apostles are commemorated jointly because their names are found in juxtaposition in all the Apostolic catalogues of the New Testament.

Or neither have we any special notice in Scripture or trustworthy tradition. Hence the appointment of St. Simon and St. Jude to the apostolic mission and dignity.

The first Sunday in Advent falls on December 1st this year.

OUR WESTERN LETTER.

Standing on the deck of a steamer, near the western shore of Thunder Bay, a stranger would wonder where a landing was to be effected, but as the land is approached the mouth of a small river is seen, and into this the steamer cautiously enters, for the Kaministiquia is a narrow strait and its shores are steep. When entering the river about midday, the sun was low and the roofs of three large buildings above the trees and among these we slowly feel our way. After steaming along in this manner for about two miles we round a bend in the river and are landed at the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's dock at Fort William, the gateway to Manitoba during the season of navigation.

Going ashore, our attention is first attracted by the mammoth elevators belonging to the above mentioned company, the roofs of which were observed from the lake, and we are astonished when told by the man in charge that each of them holds one and a quarter million bushels. Here is where the greater portion of Manitoba's yield of wheat is cleaned and bushelled up before being shipped to the markets of the world. Most of the wharves lie the river banks and at these large steamers, with a carrying capacity of from one to one and a half million bushels are moored, some unloading coal and others loading wheat. Our own steamer the "Athabasca" is discharging its bulk of general merchandise and will load 35,000 bushels of wheat and several hundred barrels of flour for Owen Sound.

An overland bridge, about five hundred feet in length, from the wharf to the station, enables passengers to cross the net work of wharves and sidings in safety and to cross and pause and look down on the busy scene beneath us, hundreds of cars fill the different tracks and are being pushed here and there by four or five yard engines, some over the hoppers to be unloaded while others are placed alongside the warehouses to receive the goods landed from our steamer, the greater number, however, after being unloaded are made up into trains and returned empty to the westward. Chancing to meet the Chief train dispatcher at this point, we learned while in conversation with him that he is at present receiving a train load of wheat hourly and that the "crush" begins he expects to handle a train every half hour until navigation closes and the elevators are filled for the winter.

Much more could be written about this interesting and historical place, but I have already made my letter longer than I intended, so will hasten on to the prairies. From Fort William to Winnipeg the distance is about 440 miles and sidings have been put in by the Railway Co. every ten or twelve miles to permit trains to pass with meeting. At most of them we met trains and at some of them two would be waiting for the express to pass.

Leaving Winnipeg we expected after seeing so much wheat in transit, to find most of the threshing done, but were surprised to see the almost uncountable stacks untouched. From the car window eighty and one hundred could be counted as the train was passing, and so it continued until darkness. Much more could be written about the grain on the train, I asked him what the estimated yield was and his reply was 30,000,000 bushels of wheat besides other grains. When to this is added 40,000 head of beef cattle, the horses, wool and dairy products for export, we, as Canadians cannot but feel that the welfare of our Western country has been a success.

While visiting among our friends in Ontario we sometimes wished that the old province was home and when the time arrived for taking leave, and saying farewell to parents and relatives, we felt we would like to remain with them, but since our return to the west, we feel that this home and that our lot has been cast in a province soon to equal, if not surpass many of the older provinces of our fair Dominion.

A CREDIT TO BELLEVILLE.

A credit to our city is a remark we hear every day regarding our big new store, and such a store, never saw anything like it. Yes, our store is fine, but our stock is superb. Any gentleman in want of tailor-made clothes can be suited at Gough's new big store, and at a price equally as low as any wholesale house in Canada. It is not reasonable that we can do this at so cheap a price, but we do. We are the largest dealers in Canada. We turn a ten cent piece over twenty times when our opponents don't turn a dollar over. So do you, you can buy better clothing at a much lower price from Gough than any other place in Ontario.

There is nothing in the decoration of a room which adds more to its appearance than the picture moulding. It should answer a two-fold purpose—1st, a practical one—a support for all the pictures; 2nd, a decorative one. To bring out the latter purpose the moulding should be in contrast to the ground of the paper and in harmony with some of the colors of the pattern. Should the ceiling be very low this treatment might bring out the moulding too strongly thus seeming to alter the proportions of the room, which effect should be avoided.

A BIG WALL PAPER SALE At Belleville!

100,000 ROLLS TO BE SOLD IN TWO MONTHS—Nov. and Dec.

CLEARING OUT THE ENTIRE STOCK OF 1895.

Your Trip to Belleville at Our Expense

We pay R. R. Fares in Cash—Read Conditions Below—All Electric Cars Pass Our Door, Fare 5c.—Ask for "The Wall Paper King"—The Conductor Will Let You Off.

WE recently bought 15 tons—30,000 rolls of Wall Paper—from the largest Wall Paper manufactory in the world. This fifteen tons represents the goods remaining unsold after the season's shipping was over.

Every factory cleans out the entire season's make before commencing manufacturing for the following year. It is difficult for any of the makers to gauge exactly in what proportions certain lines of papers are going to sell during the season—consequently there is often more or less on hand to be disposed of at whatever it will bring.

Being the largest exclusive Wall Paper House in British North America, we were asked to make a bid on the lot of 30,000 Rolls. We did not require it in our regular business as we had over 70,000 Rolls in stock at the time to carry us through the fall trade. However, we made a bid—and you may depend it was a low one—a ridiculously low one—and to our utmost astonishment we learned in a few days by wire that our offer had been accepted.

Here was a dilemma—we were already stocked—it necessitated our securing extra premises consisting of two flats about 30x85 feet each, and now after weeks of hard work opening and checking we are able to announce—in the way of a special sale—the

BIGGEST SENSATION KNOWN IN THE HISTORY OF THE TRADE.

This sale will continue until the 31st day of December, 1895—not only of this shipment, remember, but of the balance of our 1895 stock of papers—a stock representing 100,000 Rolls—bought as no other Canadian House can buy them—bought in quantities and at quantity prices with the best discounts—in fact bought EXACTLY RIGHT. These goods are selected as none but experts can select—there are no poor sellers—no disappointments when on the wall. Our selections are studied and restudied until we are ABSOLUTELY certain we have the VERY best the factories have to offer, and a higher grade of colorings and designs than our stock represents have still to be made.

The wholesale people almost to a man say we are the most critical, the hardest-to-please buyers—biggest cranks, so to speak—of any of their customers. We do not mind what they say—our two buyers are cranks—cranks tho' for you and for us. They figure and figure on a paper before they buy it, and when they buy it, you can depend on it, it's the best there is, and they buy it in big quantities. If by buying 5,000 Rolls of one pattern they can save us 5 cents on a roll, they buy it, and we give you two and a half cents of it; we keep the other two and a half. Isn't that fair?

We are making a profit right along, every day, because we buy right and we sell right—our buying makes our selling and our selling makes our buying.

We sell goods at what they cost smaller dealers and then make twenty-five per cent. on the deal.

We do not sell at cost—do not advertise any such nonsense. We are in business to make money and are making it by being always wide-awake.

At first thought one might think it strange that a house of our pretensions should be situated in Belleville. And why not in Belleville?—the prettiest little city in Canada, with the brainiest, brightest people you can find on this continent. Our business is a National one and Belleville is the most central shipping point from which to reach our trade, which extends from St. John, Newfoundland, on the East, to Victoria, B. C., on the West.

Warehouses such as we have here if situated as conveniently in Toronto or Montreal would cost us $15,000 a year.

Our wall papers represent the best selected stock in Canada and we claim the credit of introducing more novel styles, drawn and colored correctly than any of our contemporaries.

The styles are adapted to every class of dwelling houses, public buildings, churches, lodgerooms, etc. The accompanying price list tells the story:

HOW TO PAPER

And Economy in Home Decoration

BY "THE WALL PAPER KING."

THE original designs of many of our papers, which were only a foot square, cost thousands of dollars. The design for a complete combination of side wall, wide border and ceiling decorations cost more than the finest painting, but by the perfection which the art of printing or paper staining has reached, we are enabled to sell an exact reproduction of these beautiful designs at a price a little in advance of the cost of the raw materials which is used in making them.

At 14 cts. per roll paper costs you a little less than 4 cts. a square yard.

At 24 cts. per roll it costs you 6 cts. per square yard.

How much per square yard do you have to pay for your carpets and your curtains or window draperies?

A single picture worthy a place on walls decorated by even our medium priced papers will cost many times as much, and add but little in comparison to the beauty of the room.

No argument is required to prove that a room tastefully decorated is more than half furnished, and if the effect be considered, wall paper is by far the cheapest adjunct towards rendering it hospitable and home-like.

A good paper is easier to hang than a cheap one.

The sum of $6.50 may seem a large amount to pay for paper for a single room when you can get enough for 80 cents; but if you stop to think, first, it will be the most prominent thing before the eyes of your family every day in the year; second, it will be the first thing noticed by the friends who visit you; third, that the quality will be good enough to last 12 or 15 years. You will readily appreciate the difference.

Our papers represent a better variety of designs than can be shown by any other house in Canada, and among them there is not one, low or high priced, but will make a good room. We admit to our stock no patterns of which there is the slightest doubt, and can therefore guarantee satisfaction to all who purchase of us.

Further, all of our goods are new—not the accumulation of years, shop worn and out of date, such as you will find in most of your town stores whose trade is but limited. We handle hundreds of thousands of rolls each year, have pattern and color made exclusively for our use and give our customers the benefit of new and artistic goods at unheard-of prices.

We offer you better value for your money than any other house in the trade. Compare our samples and our prices with those of other dealers and form your own conclusions.

If we cannot save you twenty-five or

Wall Papers, we will not ask your patronage.

All we ask is a fair comparison.

Special attention is called to our Papers which are arranged in combinations with the wide borders and ceiling decorations; they are of the finest quality that can be made. The cost for decorating an entire room with them at our price is very small. We buy these goods in larger quantities than any other dealer in Canada, and sell them at a specially low figure.

The better grades of paper last longer, are easier to hang, and can be purchased at but slight advance in cost over the poorer grades.

White wash and kalsomine are but little cheaper than ceiling papers and add nothing to the appearance of a room; in fact they often positively destroy the harmony of coloring.

Narrow borders are sufficient if your aim is only to conceal the ragged ends of paper, but a wide border or fringe serves to heighten the appearance of a room, and gives it a more artistic finish.

Your upper wall and ceiling are the only unbroken decorative features of your room. Furniture breaks the view of the lower wall, and it is still further obscured by the hanging of pictures upon it; therefore, let special attention be paid to the selection of a wide border that shall be in harmony with wall and ceiling, and of ceiling that fittingly completes the beauty of your room.

In making your selections, if the room has a north window, let some warmth appear in the paper. If the exposure is south or west, cooler shades can be appropriately used. For dining-room let the walls be mellow in tone, indicative of hospitality.

Parlors can be treated according to individual tastes, care being used to have wall and ceiling decorations in harmony with carpets and furniture.

Use for sleeping-rooms light ground papers with a spice of color in the pattern. Floral decorations are most in favor for such purposes.

Whatever may be the room or rooms that you are about to paper, don't forget that the better quality of good papers will retain their lustre long after cheaper goods have become dull and colorless.

WALL PAPER AS A FURNISHING.

It is pleasing to note the growing importance of Wall Paper as a decorative adjunct and furnishing, and it is doubtful if the high excellence which the manufacturer has developed is generally understood or appreciated.

In former days none but the more wealthy classes could obtain a handsome wall hanging, but now Wall Papers are produced equal in design and coloring to anything that can be desired and at a most moderate price; and there is no reason why the humblest home cannot be decorated with perfect taste.

In other words there are within the practical reach of the masses (if they choose to avail themselves of the opportunity amongst the papers that we offer) Papers that are all desirable in color and design.

That Wall Paper if of first importance in the appropriate furnishing of a home there can be no denial. It is essentially the ground work of interior furnishing, and the intelligent decorator will particularly give proper attention to this, the keynote of the harmonious scheme he or she has in view.

Are as essential to a well furnished room as the wall paper or the furniture and they are a vast improvement over the whitewashed or stained ceilings.

A PRACTICAL DECORATOR EMPLOYED IN OUR MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT

Enables us to interpret your ideas of the artistic and beautiful with a selection of Wall Paper that will be an appropriate foundation and a fitting ornament for the rooms you so wish to adorn. Keep in mind the rights of your surroundings, and with the assistance we can give you, perfect good taste will permeate the entire atmosphere of your home.

We are making an extra push by offering very strong inducements through our mail order system and the result of this push can be seen upon the walls of homes in every province of this fair Dominion.

For the benefit of any of our customers who live in small places and cannot avail themselves of the service of a competent paper-hanger we append several valuable hints compiled by a practical decorator and paper-hanger.

By carefully following the instructions laid down, anyone with ordinary intelligence should be able to do a satisfactory job of paper hanging.

If it is possible to secure the services of a competent paper-hanger, however, we would advise employing him, as, of course, more satisfactory results can be obtained.

Preparing Walls.

The cleaner and smoother condition the walls are in the better the work will look when finished. This is especially so of the patterns that have the ground only partly covered by the paper, and in making selections it is often well to examine the condition of the walls, and if they are rough and uneven, or are covered with a number of thicknesses of paper that you do not wish to remove, choose a pattern that is well covered.

If you are willing to go to the trouble and want the best work done remove all old paper, and sandpaper the wall to remove all bits of paper that may be left.

If the house is new or the walls have never been papered, they should be gone over with a thin coat of size. Wash off all kalsomine or whitewash before have not been putty coated, rub off the projecting grain of sand with a flat block of wood, and if very heavy apply thin paste directly to the walls, and let dry before papering.

Wooden partitions or ceilings should be covered with cheese cloth tacked at the edges. The row of tacks at the corners and around the casings should be about two inches from the same, and the ends of the cloth pasted down, then apply thoroughly a coat of a little stronger size which will shrink the cloth tight to the walls.

If the walls have been painted go over them with a thin coat of ammonia water, one part ammonia and six parts water.

In removing old paper, or in cleaning or sizing the walls, be careful to do it thoroughly around the base board and casings to avoid paper curling up at the ends.

TO MAKE A BUCKET OF SIZE.
Soak one pound of glue over night in cold water; pour in 12 quarts of hot water and add a tablespoonful of powdered alum.

TO MAKE A BUCKET OF PASTE.
Use a cheap grade of rye or wheat flour, mix thoroughly with cold water to about the consistency of paste dough or a little thinner, being careful to remove all lumps; stir in a tablespoonful of powdered alum to a quart of flour, then pour in boiling water stirring rapidly until the flour is thoroughly cooked. Let this cool before using, and thin with cold water.

PASTING AND TRIMMING.
After having cut enough paper for either side wall or ceiling, turn the paper over on your table face downwards; apply the paste evenly over the surface of the top strip, and fold both ends over towards the centre so that they meet, keeping the edges of the strip even.

You then have a full strip of paper before you on the table pasted and folded together which can be trimmed two thicknesses at once either with shears or with a knife and straight edge. The great advantage in pasting paper before trimming is that the outside of your paper can be easily kept clean and free from paste and also that the paste will be evenly distributed clear up to the edge of the paper.

If the paper is extra wide and your walls are even and smooth both edges of paper can be trimmed with a knife and straight edge and each strip of paper butted up on the wall to the preceding strip, so that they meet but do not lap over. A good piece of work cannot be done in this way except with a knife and straight edge.

Directions for Measuring a Room.

Directions for measuring a room to ascertain the number of single rolls required to paper it:

Multiply the distance around the room by the height, take out 20 square feet for each door and window and divide the remainder by 30, this being the number of square feet in a roll after allowing for waste in matching.

EXAMPLE.
Room 12 x 14 x 10 feet high with two doors and three windows.

Length of two walls 14 feet each.....28 feet
Width of two walls 12 feet each.....24 feet
Entire length around the room.....52 feet
Multiply by the height.....10 feet

Number of square feet of wall.....520 feet
Less 5 openings, allowing 20 square feet for each.....100 feet

Amount of surface to be covered with paper.....420 feet
Also number of feet of border.....420 feet

420 square feet divided by 30 feet=14, which is the number of single rolls required for the side walls.

To find the number of yards of border required divide the length around the room—52—by 8=17½ or 18 yards.

TO FIND THE NUMBER OF ROLLS OF CEILING PAPER REQUIRED.

Multiply the length—14 feet—by the width—12 feet—and divide by 30; for example:

Length of ceiling.....14 feet
Multiply by breadth.....12 feet

Total number of square feet.....168 feet
Divide by number of feet in roll, 30 168 1 about six rolls.

The price of the border is for a single strip the width of the border only, and one yard long.

The price of the paper, both for wall and ceiling, is for one single roll only 8 yards long in the better goods and 7 yards long in the cheaper goods.

Wall Paper is put up in double rolls, so in filling an order for 10 rolls of paper you will receive 5 double rolls. We do not trim papers, nor are trimmed papers or borders returnable.
